Common Declaration

We, as participants of the conference „Life-giving rural areas to live in”, declare our intention of henceforth cooperating along the values formulated this day. The European Union means home not only for nations but also for regions. Areas that, having suffered from 20th century changes, have kept traditions alive but have been recognised by the global world for their such activity only on the verge of final destruction. We can now tread our own path and construct our future with the help of national and European funds.

In accordance with the above, as far as our possibilities allow, we are ready to:

- cultivate and keep our contacts,
- keep an eye on the events organised by all the others,
- emphasize our twin relationships throughout our communication work,
- seek, as far as possible, common appearance in tenders and other programmes of development,
- have in the essential focus of our activities, actions and other deeds the exploration and cultivation of local values. Our efforts are to go towards sustainability in an ecological sense through preparation for economic self-sufficiency and self-support.
